

My "notes" on the history of theft for only the last seven years based on the actual bank statements I've been able to examine. If you have any questions about the accuracy of this list, check it against the actual statements that the Treasurer has.

I'm listing only the expenditures I'm fairly sure were inappropriate. There are actually quite a few more that I haven't listed that I would definitely consider inappropriate but accept that others might not.

Regarding the many Kinko's, Office Depot and Office Max expenditures. I believe that almost all of these were gift cards and/or electronics. There is absolutely no justification for the thousands and thousands of dollars that Music and Brown spent at these stores...

The Starbucks expenditures listed are also almost certainly gift cards. Any coffee purchases that seem like they are probably just coffee, I didn't include...

I left almost all food purchases off this list. The ones still here are here because they are for places that are nowhere near where Guild business would have been conducted... Truth be told though, I believe that pretty much all of the restaurant purchases are wrong. These people all got pretty fair salaries and should have been buying their own damned food but whatever...

Not included in this list of theft is the Gold and Silver purchased that we lost our asses on, the extra mystery accounts that weren't included in any Treasurer Reports during the times covered by these records or the thefts by our FIRED legal advisor, used for brown nosing politicians, that are being investigated by the Washington State Attorney General. These last three areas will be covered in another document. The one major theft that I don't know how to get at is the use of Air Miles to make trips all over. We know they were generating lots and lots of miles. The thousands of dollars of challenge coins purchased were almost certainly done to generate Air Miles. Unfortunately, tracking them is beyond me...

Grand Totals of only the inappropriate VISA and Debit card expenditures which does constitute THEFT...

I believe this is about the time when former Guild President JUSTUS must have found out about Former Guild Secretary Brown’s 10K Casino party and took Brown’s VISA. I’m guessing Music wasn’t involved in that decision because as soon as Justus was promoted to Captain and left, he got his good friend Mr. Brown a new debit card which he started abusing immediately. Why did Justus take Brown’s VISA? Perhaps so he wouldn’t draw attention to the Guild finances...
